Canada Offers Little Aid To Needy But Able Students

Dean D.L. Thomson, Vice-Principal of McGill University and Dean of the Faculty of Graduate Studies, lauded a new bursaries plan when he addressed the Old Boys' Association at the High School of Montreal last night.

The bursaries are to aid students in first year university, whom the staff of the high school feel have the ability to study at university but not the financial means. In an interview with the Daily last night, the assistant-Principal of the high school, N.J. Kneeland, stressed the difference between a bursary and a scholarship. The latter automatically goes to the top students in the class.

To Raise $12,000

The mechanics of the plan are as follows: the Old Boys' Association counts on raising in the very near future an amount of approximately $12,000. The interest from this capital, about $600 per annum, will be used for the bursaries. If no student is deemed to merit it, the amount will be carried over to the next year.

This type of plan is unique in this city to the High School of Montreal. A newer high school, having a smaller alumni body, would have difficulty raising sufficient funds.

Only first year students are to benefit. It is felt that this is the hardest year for a student to finance, for, once in university, his five-month vacation, coupled with a higher educational status, will greatly implement his earning power.

This was brought out by Dr. J. Ritchie Donald, past president of the Old Boys' Association, who introduced the speaker.

"There is no other English-speaking country in the world in which it is more difficult for a gifted boy or girl to receive help in his or her education," said Dean Thomson. He stated that this was detrimental to Canada's stature in the world.

As opposed to 70% in the U.K. and 85% in the U.S.S.R., a mere 15% of the students in Canada receive financial help, the Dean said.

Federal Funds

McGill's Vice-Principal went on to say that students' tuition fees cover one-third of the total expenditures. He also touched upon the unfortunate fact that this was the only province in which federal funds could not be accepted.

Also stressed was the need for more "inquiring" students at McGill. Dean Thomson believed that the bursary plan would supply more of these.

William Hamilton, M.P. and Postmaster-General of Canada, thanked the speaker.

Creative Writing Prizes Offered To Undergrads

Entries for the MacNaughten and Rutherford Memorial Prizes in Creative writing and in original work, will be accepted until March 1 and April 1 respectively.

The Chester MacNaughten Prizes, one of $50 and one of $30, are offered annually in a competition for the best piece of creative writing in English, submitted by an undergraduate student of the university. The work submitted may be in prose or poetry, and may be fiction, drama or an essay.

Deadline

Compositions must be typed or printed and must reach the Registrar on, or before, March 1st, 1958. No candidate may submit more than two entries.

The judges are appointed by the University Scholarship Committee which also decides all questions concerning eligibility. Entries that win prizes or honorable mention will be retained by the University and filed in Red-path Library.

The J. M. Rutherford Memorial Prize of $100 is offered annually for some original work or study undertaken by a student of the University, on his own initiative, preferably outside the regular work for his or her degree. Candidates may be nominated by any member of the University staff or may apply in writing directly to the Registrar.

Students registered in the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research or who have won the prize previously are not eligible to compete.

Open Students' Society Meeting Today Will Vote On Two Constitutional Amendments

by Helen Kydd

At least three hundred students must attend the Students' Society open meeting today in order to provide the quorum necessary to pass the two amendments which have been proposed to the Constitution.

Music and Divinity

The meeting has been called for 1 pm in the Union by Students' Society President, Louis Donolo, to consider the following amendments: to increase the representation of the Faculty of Engineering on the SEC from one to two, and to combine the School of Social Work with the Faculties of Music and Divinity for the purpose of electing a representative to the SEC. The School of Social Work is at present represented through the Faculty of Arts and Science.

The problem of getting a sufficient quorum at Students' Society open meetings has been a serious one in the past few years. Unless the issue has been one of widespread interest, reaching almost emotional heights, such as the recent MUS question, very little interest has been shown by the student body. President Louis Donolo has urged all students to attend, since the issue at hand is a basic one of proper distribution of representation on the SEC.

A change in the representation on the SEC by the School of Social Work was requested by that School, since they felt that they did not have enough in common with the Arts and Science students with whom they are now combined. It was decided by the Students' Executive Council that the faculties with the closest interests would be those of Music and Divinity, therefore they proposed to combine the School of Social Work with those faculties. The faculties concerned however, (Music and Divinity) voiced a protest to this plan. The School of Social Work has said that it would prefer to leave the matter as it is now rather than cause any discontent; there is therefore a possibility that the amendment will be moved, seconded, and tabled.

Largest Faculty

The proposed amendment concerning Engineering representation is more fundamental, since it touches the matter of proportional distribution of representation. The Faculty of Engineering is the largest Faculty at McGill, yet they are represented on the Council by only one member. It has been therefore proposed to raise this number to two.

President Louis Donolo, discussing the forthcoming meeting said that he hoped sufficient students would attend to provide the necessary quorum, and added, "I hope we don't have another riot."

McMaster Expands: Adds New Faculty

HAMILTON (CUP) — The President of McMaster, G.D. Gilmour, announced recently that the McMaster Senate has authorized the establishment of a faculty of engineering.

For several years the provision of an engineering faculty has been anticipated. A director of engineering studies was appointed in 1956, and authority to grant engineering degrees was given last year.

In September 1957 the first and severely limited group of engineers was admitted.

Date is July 1

"In view of the anticipated growth in the student numbers and the teaching staff, and the imminent erection of an engineering and science building, it was decided that the department shall, as of July 1, have the title of Faculty of Engineering," Dr. Gilmour said.

Foundation of other engineering faculties in the Province of Ontario was also anticipated in the University of Toronto report. Establishment of a faculty at McMaster, as well as other provincial colleges and universities, would "reduce the pressure toward the creation of an engineering colossus at Toronto," the report said.

The McMaster Senate conferred department status upon three university courses: psychology, sociology, and metallurgy. The new departments will be associated with the Faculties of Arts and Science, Dr. Gilmour said.

A dean for the new engineering faculty, and the chairmen for departmental heads have been nominated. However, no announcement can be made until the nominations have been approved by the Board of Governors, said President Gilmour.

CUP FINALISTS SPEAK ON "LAW"

Five students will participate in the finals of the Talbot-Papineau Cup for Public Speaking tomorrow.

The finalists are Nancy Adams, Nundi Gewurz, Mike Kinsman, Stu Smith, and Bruce Weir. Each contestant will speak for six minutes on the topic of "Law".

Dr. F. Cyril James will judge the speeches. Louis Donolo is chairman of the contest and Arnie Barkoff is in charge of arrangements.

The contest will begin at 1:10 pm in the Walter M. Stewart Room of the Union.

Ice Revue Stars Amateurs & Pros

Both professional and amateur skaters will perform at this year's edition of the McGill Carnival Ice Revue. The Revue, which is one of three main attractions of Forum Night, will be held a week today at the Montreal Forum.

Amongst the professionals will be Dick Nutler of the Ice Follies and Minto Follies. Lise Petit and Ian Knight, a dance pair team which was runner-up in the Canadian Junior Pairs Championships in January of this year will also take part in the revue.

TICKET SALES

Today: 11 am — 2 pm at the Arts Building and the Union.

Friday: 11 am — 2 pm in the Arts Building, Engineering Building, PSC and the Union.

Next Monday to Thursday: 10 am — 4 pm: Same places as Friday, above.

McGill's own skaters are to be George Czacko, who represented Hungary in the Winter Olympics of 1952 and who is three times winner of the Senior Men's Figure Skating Championships in his country, and Doug Court, runner-up in the Canadian Senior Men's Championships of 1955-56. Barbara Jessop, a McGill student who has turned professional and teacher, is another of the performers. She has skated in the Canadian Junior Women's Championships.

Seventeen female students comprise the Co-Ed Chorus which has as its manager Marge Iness. The girls will be coached by Bev Chafe, a graduate of the University of Manitoba who has skated in many professional shows.

The Carnival Committee has invited four-hundred orphans to attend Forum Night as guests of McGill University.

Editorials

This Rotting Province

Conditions in the Province of Quebec are such that any day's news will provide material for editorializing, yet there are some days when such discouraging and frightening things happen that it becomes necessary to write once more about this Province and its violently disturbing government. Such a day was yesterday when it was announced that the Quebec Labour Relations Board had rejected a bid by the United Steelworkers Union to bargain for the employees of the Gaspé Copper Mines. This decision throws the matter right back to the days before the bitter Murdochville strike at the Gaspé Peninsula mine. The Union claims to represent 95% of the workers, yet all sorts of legal and quasi-legal measures have been employed by the Company to prevent the formation of a legally-constituted union. The Government and Police of this Province have been hazards which the Union has had to face, but which it should not have had to contend with in any democratic state.

Mr. Duplessis' anti-labour policies have been long known in this Province, and his strong-arm tactics rendered ungently by His Provincial Police have maintained the status quo in many labour disputes. The man seems to have no human sentiment or compassion; consistently he has upheld the side of large foreign-dominated corporations engaged in fabulously profitable operations in preference to the interests of the rather poor ignorant powerless citizens of this Province which he claims to love so dearly. The situation of labor in Quebec is almost unbelievable in this time of elsewhere improving labor relations. Consistently the interests of the laboring man have not been the interests of Premier Duplessis' Government, and as consistently, the interests of large capital have been protected and pampered.

It is easy to see why. It is known that one of the largest mining companies in the world, with a huge operation in Northern Quebec, regularly contributes huge sums of money to the campaign funds of the Union Nationale party whose administration it feels will benefit it most. Mr. Lapalme, the Leader of the Provincial Opposition, has indicated that the Province receives only 8.77% of its tax revenue from its vaunted developments of natural resources, while the remaining tax is paid by citizens. It's small wonder that mining speculators seek to exploit Quebec; they receive ludicrously generous tax concessions, and are assured of as much help as anyone can get in their labor disputes. Small wonder that Cyrus Eaton with his 200 million dollar investment in Northern Quebec should proclaim that "Duplessis is a great man for this Province." The bitter and beaten laboring class in this Province would not be so generous.

The Crucial Balance

In our modern publicity conscious world it is truer than ever that a man is known and recognised by his deeds. The significance of this is of considerable importance to the university teacher — if he is to gain recognition he must write, publish regularly and do research. The problem of the balance between teaching and research is therefore a crucial one in the university.

The opinion is held by many that constant research is necessary to inspire good teaching. It is also an obvious fact that graduate students tend to pick institutions according to the reputation of the school in research. Difficulties are however inherent in a system which tries to provide both good research opportunities and good teaching. In the annual report, Dean Fieldhouse in discussing this problem stresses that the act of writing and the act of teaching are diametrically opposed forms of spending energy; moreover in the first class teacher, the perfecting of teaching occupies his mind most of the time. This would suggest that one cannot expect the best of both worlds at the same time. The Dean makes an interesting and challenging suggestion to give the undergraduate a connection with the research programme; this would do much to heighten the interests of students.

The greatness of a university depends both on its research and on its teaching. Some consideration should be given to training methods for university staff — those of us who have suffered through lectures know this only too well. Interesting lecturers can also be stimulated by providing the staff with sufficient time and incentive to do research and to write. To provide this the university needs an adequate staff, sufficient space and equipment, and above all, money. Dr. James in his report draws a comparison with the Australian situation where education is also the responsibility of the state governments — the folk down under seem to be on the brink of solving their problem by creating a national commission to control grants. If we are not to have hack schools devoid of good research or students who suffer from poor teaching a striking change must also be made here and soon.

Letters To The Editor

A Plea For The Engineers

Sir:
As one of the instigators of the forthcoming amendment to the Students' Society constitution, I have been asked to expose some of the reasons which prompted its proposal.

Apart from being a perennial item in the platform of all engineering SEC candidates within memory, this amendment is motivated by the fact that the engineering undergraduates, numbering this year over 1600 students, and contributing about 30% of Students' Society fees, have only one out of sixteen seats on the Students' Executive Council.

We are presenting this amendment because we feel that the engineering students, divided as they are among seven major branches, embodying eleven different options, can no longer be adequately represented on the council by a single individual.

While far from advocating a strictly proportional allocation of council seats, since we recognize that one of the underlying reasons for the present distribution is the desire to give campus groups of varied interests an opportunity to voice their views, we do feel that the representation, insofar as engineering undergraduates are concerned, has become far too disproportionate.

It can, of course, be argued that the enlarging of an already numerous council might tend to make it too unwieldy. We do not think, however, that the addition of one member would make a great difference in that respect.

In conclusion, we strongly believe that the proposed amendment is well justified. We have no intention, however, of attempting to railroad its adoption by the Students' Society. If there are members of the society opposing its adoption, we would ask them to state their objections publicly, so that students attending the general meeting, on Thursday, will have an opportunity to form a clear judgment and to accept or reject its amendment on its merits.

Christian Group Organizes Camps

Each summer the Students' Christian Movement of Canada organizes work camps in which students live in a community and participate in a programme of work, study, worship and recreation. Five such projects are planned for this year from May until August 31.

There will be an International Student Community in Toronto with approximately fifty per-cent Canadian and fifty per-cent overseas students attending. The primary purpose of the camp is the bringing together of Christian students from various parts of the world and those participating may obtain work wherever they like, or spend the summer studying at the University.

Industrial camps will be held in Toronto and Vancouver. Participants are usually accommodated in a downtown church and are required to obtain jobs in industry. A study programme includes theology, study and discussion of the Bible and of contemporary social, economic and political factors.

A mental health camp will be held at the Saskatchewan Hospital at Weyburn, Sask. Students work as regular employees of the mental hospital and earnings are $169 monthly. An evening study programme centres on the problems of mental health, in the Bible and Christian Faith, and the interrelation between them.

A travel pool equalizes transportation costs. Those interested should apply as soon as possible.

Engineers Hold Annual Gen Nite

The Annual Gen Nite for McGill engineering students will be held to-night in the Union Ballroom beginning at 8 pm.

Diplomat Reviews Israeli Progress

by David Grant

"It has been said that without Israel there would be no trouble for the West with the Arab World. This is not true," said Israel Ambassador A. Lourie as he addressed a gathering in Moyse Hall yesterday.

He went on to say that there would still be great differences between the West and the Arab World without the existence of Israel. There would still be the conflict between the British and Yemen over Aden, and between the French and Arabs in Algeria.

The Suez crisis and all the events leading to this incident were not created by the existence of Israel. It is no accident that Egypt and Syria have found common ground for union. They are among the 'Have Nots' for they have little oil wealth.

Ambassador Lourie reviewed the history of Israel from its inception. "In the face of invasion by the Arab states, with a history far more complicated, great vision, great longing that goes back two thousand years. During this long period they had not given up their hope of being again bound in a common unity."

"The State has now passed ten years of age. They have been years of tension, but also of progress."

In those years over a million Jews had entered the country. 80,000 entered during last year alone. The country has had to absorb the 120,000 who had entered from Iraq. The major challenge facing Israel today is the creating of a livelihood for these people. Israel in binding together these people from over 50 different countries, has the aid of a common language, a common heritage and a common destiny.

In the next ten years Israel will have to retain her security and to become economically independent if she is to allow more Jews to enter.

"We have shown the Arab world that we can look after ourselves," he said. "But we must continue to maintain our forces..." peace is not around the corner. But the time will come when the realization comes to the Arab mind that Israel is there to stay."

McGill Aquamen Ready To Duel South Of The Border

On Friday morning, the McGill Aquamen leave for two meets south of the border. Rensselaer Polytech is their first stop on Friday afternoon and Saturday afternoon will find them competing against Union college at Schenectady N.Y.

At Troy they meet a team with no losses to its record this year. They have successfully competed against MIT and the University of Mass. and their relay teams have racked up times of 4:19.3 in the 400 yd. Medley and 3:45.1 in the 400 yd. freestyle.

Co-captain Don Yohn of R.P.I. will most likely be taking the 100 yd. freestyle and the 200 yd. freestyle in which he has swum in times of 55.1 and 2:24.2 respectively. Fran La Gase will try to better his time of 24.8 in the 50 yd. freestyle while Paul Hoffman will set the pace in the butterfly.

UNION COLLEGE

Union College does not present as strong a team as their northern neighbours. Their relay teams hold a 4:23.6 and 3:55.5 time in the 400 yd. Medley and freestyle respectively, both of which McGill shouldn't have too much trouble bettering.

Although the team is not exceptionally strong, it does have an impressive 13-3 record for the year and an even more impressive 59-11 record over the past 6 years.

Seeing action for the Union College team will be John Ruth in the 220 yd. freestyle and team-mate Fred Trater who will be swimming the 50 yd. freestyle with a time of 25.0 under his belt. Dave Herman, a butterfly swimmer with the team, will also provide competition for the Redmen.

REDMEN SWIMMERS

The Redmen will have old standby Pete Rutherford in to swim the butterfly or breast stroke. Cameron Grout will be trying to set some new records in the 440 yd. and 220 yd. freestyle while 'Cadet' Gordon will probably see action in the 50 and 100 yd. freestyles.

Co-captain Peter Capelovitch will share breast strokes and butterflys with Rutherford while freshman Alec Rabinovitch will be swimming as second man in these events.

Co-captain Jim Gaston will probably also be a starter for the Red and White in the freestyles while Ian Semple and Warman Castle will help out on the relay teams. Manager Mortimer Easdon will see action if he isn't too tired from carrying bags and Mike Lazare, Bill Porritt and Bob Miller may also make the trip.

ANDERSON DIVING

Inter-collegiate diving champ, Jerry Anderson, will be carrying the Redmen colors at RPI but will leave to Toronto to take part in a tumbling meet before the Union meet. Dan Mackie will compete at Rensselaer and take full reins at Schenectady.

The meet is non-intercollegiate, but should provide the team with a good warm-up for next week-end when they meet Western and Toronto at the Blue's University for the inter-collegiate title.

Redmen Boxing Squad Will Defend Intercollegiate Title This Weekend

McGill will be putting their Inter-collegiate Boxing crown on the line when they travel to Toronto to compete in this year's meet which will be held Friday and Saturday February 14 and 15. McGill will be entering only an eight man squad, leaving the 145 pound slot vacant, while both Toronto and Queen's, the other two participants in the meet, will be fielding the full nine man teams.

Last year in Montreal the Redmen came up with 21 points, far ahead of Toronto's 13 and Queen's 11. But only two members of last years championship squad will be out again this year, Ozzie Downs, 175 lbs., and Pierre Raymond. Raymond will compete in the 165 lb. division, whereas last year he fought in the 155 lb. class.

McGill coach Bert Light has announced these newcomers to the squad. Jim Rochemont 130 lb., Carl Hutchison 135 lb., Pete Thompson 140 lb., Bill Briggs 150 lb., Harry Weissman 155 lb., and Dick Hinton in the heavyweight class.

Queen's will have a completely new team in action with Al Hyland (heavyweight) the only holdover with any Intercollegiate experience.

CARNIVAL SKIING

The Carnival Skiing Meets will take place on Friday and Saturday the 21 and 22 of February. The lead event will be the slalom which will take place Friday morning at Mont Gabriel, while a cross country race will be featured in the afternoon at Red Birds.

The downhill run will be held at Mont Baldy and is scheduled for Saturday morning. The new 140 foot jump at the University of Montreal hill will set the scene for the ski jump contest, Saturday at 2 pm. Dartmouth, Vermont, Syracuse, Laval, U. of M., Sir George Williams College and McGill will compete in this event. An admission of 50 cents will be charged for this event.
